

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR/FULL PROFESSOR IN MICROECONOMIC THEORY
Department of Economics
University of California, Riverside

The Department of Economics at the University of California, Riverside invites applications for a tenured Associate or Full Professor position in the area of Microeconomic Theory. All areas of Microeconomic Theory will be considered. We are particularly interested in expertise in Game Theory.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Economics or related field at the time of application, and an established record of outstanding research and teaching accomplishment that merits appointment as an Associate or Full Professor. The selected candidate will be expected to teach in the Ph.D. core microeconomic theory sequence and in the undergraduate program, guide the research of doctoral students, be committed to a continuing, state-of-the-art research program, provide leadership in the department, and provide service to the university and profession. Salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. Appointment will be effective July 1, 2019.

Applications may be submitted at <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF00985> and must include a cover letter of interest, current CV, a minimum of three samples of research, evidence of teaching excellence, a statement of contributions to diversity, and the names and contact information of 3-5 references. Review of applications will begin on November 1, and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by November 1 will receive full consideration.

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.
